

“আনন্দ উৎসব”

(Ananda Utsav)

Today May 23,2022, Friday at 1 PM an ANANDA UTSAVÀ was organized jointly by IQAC and women cell in our college premises. The festival started auspiciously with a speech by the TIC of the College, Ramakrishna Mandal. The main participants of the said festival were the students studying in the college. Each participating student enriched the festival with their own tasteful food processing skill. 6 different stalls were arranged to show their talent. In all 5 of these stalls were for female students and one for male students. Basically, two types of foods were presented which were natural food and processed food. Processed food consisted of different types of Pithe, Payes, Malpoa, Momos and natural food consisted of chana, salad and plates rich in various types of cut fruits. Students also presented small handicrafts.

This program became accepted with great joy by all levels. Every type of food items organized in the stalls were delicious and very tasteful. All the professors and other students present in this ANANDA UTSAV encouraged the vendor students by buying food according to their capacity from each stall. By the end of the event, all the food items of the stalls were sold out.

- This is the first time in the life of the students that they have seen some money in their hard work. For which there was no limit to their happiness.
- They got more interest in this work as all the food was sold out.If there is a festival like this in the future, more friends will be able to participate in this event.
- Students got a chance to spend a different day outside of daily classroom study and writing.
- Today the students got the opportunity to show the talent or the individuality that they have in themselves.
- The sense of making money in real life was developed through this program today.
- Apart from the family, they got a chance to show their talent/skill on a bigger scale, in the middle of more people and get appreciated.

- A partial idea of pricing food products or food items is formed today through this festival of joy.

At 3:30 PM, the TIC announced the end of the festival only after the food items of every stall participating in the festival were sold.
